The Complete Lara Acosta LinkedIn Playbook

An exhaustive, zero-omission operational guide to positioning, writing, formatting, commenting, algorithm distribution, and monetization on LinkedIn—engineered for founders, creators, and Claude AI content workflows.

Source Synthesis: 7 Masterclasses & Live Audits (2025–2026) | Core Systems: 4-3-2-1, SLAY, PAS, Viral POV, 1+3 & 3+1 Commenting, 5 Growth Plays, 12-Phase Roadmap

> PRIMARY OPERATIONAL DIRECTIVE FOR CLAUDE (AI LINKEDIN MANAGER)
> When acting as a LinkedIn Manager, strategist, or ghostwriter, treat this document as your strict operating system. Never generate generic, robotic, or unverified "AI slop." Every post, hook, profile rewrite, comment, and content calendar must obey the exact psychological laws, structural frameworks (SLAY, PAS, POV), cadence rules (4-3-2-1), distribution tactics (1+3 and 3+1), and monetization gates documented in Sections 1 through 8.

01 The 2026 LinkedIn Opportunity & Algorithm Reality

LinkedIn has expanded from 1 billion to 1.3 billion users, yet active content creation remains disproportionately low: historically only 1–2% of users posted consistently, and even today only 3–5% publish content. Because supply still lags far behind demand, LinkedIn remains the highest-converting B2B organic acquisition channel—though the window of low-competition organic reach is steadily narrowing.

Across hundreds of analyzed six- and seven-figure creator and founder accounts, success on LinkedIn is governed by underlying strategy rather than media format. Text-only posts, candid photos, screenshots, carousels, and videos all succeed or fail based on whether they execute the core psychological and algorithmic triggers outlined below.

Strategic Dimension	Core Principle & Empirical Benchmark	Verified Creator & Founder Proof Cases
7 Career & Revenue Outcomes	Consistent LinkedIn execution unlocks: (1) B2B leads & client acquisition, (2) niche authority & credibility, (3) speaking invitations (organizers scout LinkedIn first), (4) job offers & promotions, (5) strategic partnerships, (6) sponsorships & community sales, and (7) angel deal flow, press, and podcasts.	Lara Acosta: Built 3 seven-figure businesses; scaled software company (Kleo) to $190K/mo and $1M+ in 6 months with $0 ad spend; Forbes 30 Under 30 Europe; 370K+ followers.

Low-Follower Monetization	You do not need 100,000 followers to build a high-cash-flow business. Accounts under 10,000 followers routinely generate five- and six-figure monthly revenues through sharp positioning and buyer-aligned content.	Paulo (18 yrs old): $50,000/month via LinkedIn without a massive following. Harry: Went from zero-audience recruiter to $25,000+/month agency via learning & authority posts.
Founder & B2B SaaS Scale	Founder-led and team-wide personal branding outperforms corporate brand pages by building human trust at scale and driving inbound pipeline directly to software and service offers.	Adam Robinson: $9M ARR driven largely by building in public on LinkedIn. Chris Donnelly: 1M+ followers, The Times features, raised capital. Clay: Entire team building personal brands.
The 2026 Anti-AI Shift	Feeds are saturated with overly polished, copy-paste "AI slop." Reader BS-detectors are at an all-time high. Raw, conversational, imperfect human stories with lived proof outperform rigid templates.	Algorithm Shift: LinkedIn evaluates authority signals across your profile, lived anecdotes, and comment conversations rather than rewarding empty engagement bait.
Viral Creator vs. Lifetime Creator	Viral Creators chase trends/news; if you cover their name, nobody knows who wrote the post (zero brand equity). Lifetime Creators embed personal stories, photos, and signature frameworks into every topic—becoming their own algorithm.	Goal: Build visibility + memorability through deliberate repetition so prospects categorize you into one unmistakable mental bucket.

02 Positioning, Profile Landing-Page Architecture & Authority Stacking

Most creators do not have a content problem—they have a positioning problem. Telling beginners to "be your own niche" keeps them broke and invisible. Before you become the niche, you must claim a specific, monetizable lane that buyers immediately understand and pay for.

The 3-Question Monetizable Positioning Formula

Define your positioning by answering three exact questions: (1) What do you want to be hired for? (2) What are you specifically great at? (3) Who is actively demanding your service or product? Never settle for broad category labels that force you to compete on price in a red ocean.

Niche / Domain	Weak Positioning (Commoditized Red Ocean)	Monetizable Positioning (Specific Outcome + Mechanism)
Personal Finance	"Financial advisor for C-suite executives."	"Helping women save $10,000 a year without cutting their lifestyle."
Content & Social Growth	"Content coach helping creators grow online."	"Helping introverts go viral on LinkedIn without dancing on TikTok."

Niche / Domain	Weak Positioning (Commoditized Red Ocean)	Monetizable Positioning (Specific Outcome + Mechanism)
Email Marketing	"Email marketing expert for online stores."	"Helping e-commerce brands recover 25% of lost sales via automated email flows."
LinkedIn Consulting	"Marketing consultant helping businesses grow."	"Helped 40+ e-commerce brands cut ad costs by 30% | Free playbook below."

Your Profile Is a Landing Page, Not a CV ("Halo Effect of Clarity")

When a reader likes your post and clicks your name, they land on your profile expecting to understand within 5 seconds what you do, who you help, and why they should trust you. If they see a generic job title and corporate buzzwords, they leave. Under the Halo Effect of Clarity, a crisp, specific profile makes prospects assume your service delivery is equally crisp and reliable; a messy profile signals messy execution.

Profile Asset	Exact Structural Formula	Execution Rules & Common Mistakes
Headline	[Proof / Credibility] + [Specific Promise] + [Target Audience] Example: "Entrepreneur & Investor building businesses online | Forbes 30 Under 30 | Helped 5,000+ people build personal brands, go viral & land clients on LinkedIn."	Stack external validation (press, revenue, client count) right beside the exact transformation you deliver. Eliminate vague buzzwords.
Cover Banner	Visual value proposition answering two questions immediately: (1) What do I get if I follow you? (2) How do I work with you?	Use clean typography, social proof logos/milestones, and a clear directional cue toward your Featured section.
Featured Section	Direct conversion gateway linking to your primary lead magnet, waitlist, newsletter, or core offer.	Critical Rule: NEVER pin an old viral post to your Featured section forever. Dissect viral posts to write new ones; reserve Featured strictly for traffic capture.
Strategic Authority Stacking	Micro Level (Profile): Stack testimonials, numbers, and credentials across banner, headline, About, and Featured. Macro Level (Content): Showcase client wins, screenshots, and recognizable brands inside posts.	Pre-handles buyer objections before a sales call ever occurs (enabling high-ticket sales, such as $5,000 offers, directly off content).

The Rule of Repetition & Pattern Recognition: Founders often stop mentioning their biggest credentials (e.g., an 8-figure exit, a bestselling book, or Forbes 30 Under 30) because they feel repetitive. However, readers do not remember yesterday's post. Force yourself to tie at least 3 posts every week back to the core experience that makes you uniquely qualified, and re-anchor major milestone proof roughly once per month to create rapid pattern recognition.

03 Content Strategy, Themes & The 4-3-2-1 Operating System

Posting 7 days a week without strategic intent causes burnout and stagnant growth. LinkedIn is a quality and positioning game, not a raw volume game. Every post is a calculated bet on an angle you want to own, governed by the 4-3-2-1 Strategy.

Weekly Job-Per-Post Cadence Breakdown

Four posts per week is the optimal baseline (scalable to 5–6 posts/week once patterns are validated or with team support). Each weekly slot performs a distinct conversion job:

Weekly Slot	Pillar & Psychological Job	Content Formats & Structures	Execution Rules & Examples
Day 1: Tuesday	Educate Job: Capture Attention & build Niche Authority.	Step-by-step breakdowns, proprietary frameworks you actually use, common mistakes + fixes, real case studies, industry fundamentals explained simply.	Use PAS (Problem, Agitate, Solution) with specific insider vocabulary. Give away 100% of the framework—buyers pay for implementation, not secrets.
Day 2: Wednesday	Document / Build in Public Job: Prove Authenticity & Competence.	What you are actively building right now, the why behind decisions, operational highs/lows, and real-time experiments.	Never write a "what I did today" diary. Every personal update must deliver a transferable lesson. Use Adam Robinson's exact-number hook + clear screenshot proof.
Day 3: Thursday	Inspire via Storytelling Job: Build Human Trust & Broad Reach.	Universal human struggles: feeling stuck, imposter syndrome, wanting to quit, betting on yourself without certainty.	Storytelling is human-dependent, not niche-dependent—it pulls strangers into your world before they realize they need your offer. Use SLAY or POV.

Weekly Slot	Pillar & Psychological Job	Content Formats & Structures	Execution Rules & Examples
Day 4: Saturday / Sunday	Sell / TAM Conversion Job: Convert Warm Trust into Leads & Revenue.	4 Non-Sleazy Selling Methods: (1) Halo Effect authority post, (2) End-to-end asset breakdown, (3) Customer-eyes emotional & financial transformation story, (4) LinkedIn Lives.	Attach a clear CTA to your lead magnet, waitlist, or offer. Strict Exception: NEVER put a sales CTA at the end of a deeply vulnerable emotional story (e.g., depression).

Writing for Two Audiences Simultaneously & The Broad–Narrow–Niche Funnel

Most creators write exclusively for their Ideal Client Persona (ICP)—the buyer asking, "Can this person actually help me?"—and ignore their Ideal Follower. Ideal followers may not buy today (as Alex Hormozi demonstrated in a mastermind where 99% of buyers had followed him for 5+ years), but they relate to your worldview, amplify your reach through engagement, and refer buyers to you. To balance both audiences without plateauing, structure your themes across three depth tiers:

Theme Tier	Primary Audience	Core Subject Matter	Strategic Objective
Broad Themes (Top of Funnel)	Ideal Followers, Beginners & Adjacent Markets	Mindset, self-doubt, imposter syndrome, starting from zero, "rags to riches" backstory, unfair cultural/personal advantages, universal work ethic.	Maximize total addressable market (TAM) reach, humanize your brand, and attract new followers daily.
Narrow Themes (Middle of Funnel)	Industry Peers, Decision-Makers & Warm Followers	Industry shifts, hiring & team building, leadership lessons, fundraising, operational systems, and trend analysis.	Nurture followers, demonstrate domain mastery, and establish peer credibility.
Super-Niche Themes (Bottom of Funnel)	High-Intent ICPs & Ready Buyers	Monetizable expertise: exact mechanisms, client teardowns, ROI numbers, and specific problem-solving playbooks.	Pre-qualify buyers, trigger inbound DMs, and convert traffic into lead magnets and offers.

04 High-Converting Writing Frameworks & Psychological Engineering

Every high-performing LinkedIn post relies on deliberate psychological architecture rather than random inspiration. Master and deploy these three core writing frameworks across your weekly schedule.

1. The SLAY Framework (Storytelling + Education + Dwell Time)

Stories trigger oxytocin release and neural mirroring, causing the reader's brain to experience your narrative firsthand. However, stories on LinkedIn fail when they ramble without a point or rely on absurd metaphors (such as turning two pigeons fighting over a chip into a B2B sales lesson). The SLAY Framework forces stories to deliver rapid, high-trust value:

Letter	Component	Psychological & Algorithmic Function	Concrete Example
S	Story (2–4 lines max)	Open with a short, specific, factual moment anchored in a timeframe or concrete detail—never a vague summary ("I learned a lot about sales").	"In the last 28 days, I made $27,000 from a secret offer. I didn't post about it. I didn't launch it."
L	Lesson (Bridge)	Immediately extract what that experience taught you. Without the lesson bridge, stories feel braggy and self-indulgent.	"Here are the 3 counterintuitive positioning shifts that made buyers ask to pay before a single sales call:"
A	Actionable Advice	Deliver step-by-step tactical steps (often a numbered listicle) that the reader can implement within 10 minutes.	3–5 crisp, concrete execution steps with zero corporate jargon.
Y	You Question (Engagement Engine)	Activates the Self-Reference Effect (lighting up the medial prefrontal cortex) and boosts dwell time and comment conversations—LinkedIn's top ranking signals.	"Which of these 3 bottlenecks is holding your offer back right now?" (Use "you" far more than "I" throughout.)

2. The PAS Framework (Problem-Oriented Authority & Conversion)

When your ICP is actively experiencing an urgent threat or frustration, lead directly with PAS rather than a backstory:

- P — Problem: Name an immediate threat, bottleneck, or industry shift in lines 1–2 to trigger the brain's threat-detection scanner (e.g., "My phone addiction has been completely out of control lately" or "SEO is changing—but not in the way you think").
- A — Agitate: Quantify or sharpen the cost of the problem in the next 1–2 lines so the reader thinks, "This is literally happening to me right now."
- S — Solution: Deliver a clear, step-by-step plan (anxious readers want a blueprint, not vague reassurance) and close the loop with a decisive command (e.g., "Forget about the website. Forget about X. Just start.").

3. The Viral POV Storytelling Framework ("TikTokification of LinkedIn")

Tested over 6 consecutive weeks, the POV (Point of View) format outperformed baseline content by 3x and generated over 1,000,000 views. Traditional LinkedIn posts open with "I" ("I'm thrilled to announce my promotion..."), making the reader a passive spectator of a humblebrag. Opening with "POV: You..." flips the reader into the active protagonist of their own transformation story.

- Simultaneous 3-Pillar Execution: POV posts simultaneously Educate (delivering one sharp insight from your journey), Storytell (beginning → struggle → outcome), and Entertain in plain text through sentence rhythm—alternating short, medium, and long lines with generous white space so the post flows like a song.
- The F-Shaped Eye-Tracking Law: Eye-tracking research proves online readers scan in an F-pattern (top horizontal sweep → vertical scan down the left margin → mid-page horizontal sweep → vertical left scan). Consequently, the first 2–3 words of every single line must hook the scanning eye, or the reader drops off.
- Low-to-High Anti-Bragging Arc: Never start at high status and brag upward. Always anchor where you started ("Not long ago I was an invisible freelancer..." or "At 23 I had a 0.1% statistical chance of building a profitable business..."), compress time quickly without excessive detail, acknowledge the real work/sacrifice, and end at your current aspiration.
- TAM Value Anchors & "Pinterest Quote" Endings: Tie hooks to universal human desires—Wealth, Health, and Relationships (business, money, travel, friendship)—and close with 2–3 short, feel-good lines (like a movie sequel ending) that prevent overwhelm and spark reciprocity.
- Visual Context ("TikTokification"): Pair every POV post with a candid, real-life photo matching the exact scene (laptops, whiteboard, co-founders, travel setting). Visual context communicates setting, effort, and authenticity in under 3 seconds, eliminating dozens of explanatory words.
- Optimal Cadence: Publish 1 POV post per week (e.g., Monday), followed immediately on Tuesday by an educational breakdown teaching the exact steps behind that POV story.

COPY-PASTE POV POST TEMPLATE (KEEP HOOK UNDER 8 WORDS): POV: You [desirable
milestone/transformation in <8 words]. Not long ago, I was [relatable low-status starting point / struggle]. Statistically, [concrete odds or obstacle you faced].
Over the last [timeframe], everything changed—not by luck, but because I focused on [1 core insight]: → [Actionable shift 1 — short punchy line] → [Actionable shift 2 — medium explanatory line] → [Actionable shift 3 — short punchy line] I've had [honest sacrifice/effort], but I've never felt more alive. [2–3 short
"Pinterest quote" closing lines that make the reader feel inspired & capable.]
[Attach candid photo directly showing the environment/people in the story.]

2026 Hook Evolution, Authority Signaling & Cross-Platform Packaging

While short hooks (<8 words) remain ideal for POV posts, LinkedIn's 2026 feed no longer requires robotic one-line hooks on every post. Raw, conversational 2–3 line openings perform exceptionally well—provided you prove within the first 3 lines that the reader's time investment will pay off and immediately signal why you are qualified to speak.

Tactical Element	What Fails in 2026 (AI Slop)	What Wins in 2026 (High Authority)
Hook Framing	"How to build a 7-figure business:" (written by someone who hasn't done it).	"How I..." or "After helping 50+ brands..." — anchors advice in unassailable lived proof.
Data & Proof Packaging	"We had a record-breaking month and grew our team!" + stock graphic.	"We made over $600,000 last month." + raw, unedited dashboard screenshot ("Show, don't tell").
Personal Anecdote Rewrite	Generic infographic listing "5 tips on how to say no at work."	Candid photo as a CEO & parent + "I used to feel guilty every time I said no. It burned me out by 30—I couldn't work." + 3 concise lived tips (Rule of Three).
Repurposing IG / TikTok Videos	Copy-pasting consumer captions ("We just roasted 20 books! Watch below!").	Context-first LinkedIn framing: "This video got 500K views on Instagram. I roasted 10 business ideas live—did I invest? 100 applied, 10 showed up, 1 got funded:" + repost/tag CTA.

05 Content Ideation, Reverse Engineering & Multiplication Systems

Social media algorithms do not reward originality—they reward relevance. Never stare at a blank page guessing what might work. Use a data-backed research, reverse-engineering, and multiplication workflow:

1. Phase 1 — Outlier Research & Swipe File Curation: Every week, audit 5 top creators in your niche (or use Cleo's Inspiration tab sorted by most likes). Save outlier posts into a dedicated swipe file and extract three elements: (1) The Hook, (2) The Line-by-Line Structure & Pacing, and (3) The Core Content Angle.
2. Phase 2 — Reverse Engineering ("Prepackaged Cake Mix"): Like baking from a proven mix rather than guessing raw ingredients, keep the market-validated skeleton and pacing of an outlier post while infusing 100% of your own niche, numbers, stories, and voice ("Bad artists copy, good artists steal, great ones make it theirs").
3. Phase 3 — The 80/20 Repetition Rule: Start with 80% Educational content and 20% Personal Updates/Stories. Treat posts like paid ads—test hooks, vocabulary, and formats systematically, then double down on statistical winners until they stop outperforming.
4. Phase 4 — Signature Style Series: Combine One Core Idea + One Repeatable Pattern + Distinct Visual/Formatting Elements into a recognizable recurring series (e.g., Louis scaling to $100K revenue by consistently breaking down creator videos; Jake Ward reaching ~200K followers with signature blue-and-green how-to carousels).

The 1-to-4+ Content Multiplication Matrix

You never run out of ideas when you multiply a single real experience across four distinct psychological angles (demonstrated using Timothy Armoo's real story of pitching Charlotte Tilbury at £40,000 instead of £1,000–£2,000 and closing at £60,000):

Multiplication Angle	Hook & Framing Blueprint	Target Psychological Trigger
1. Educational ("How I")	"This is how I closed Charlotte Tilbury for £60,000 at age 27:"	Borrows instant brand credibility and proves lived execution over generic theory.
2. Data / Result Story	"In 2019, I closed my first £60K single-client deal after years of charging £1K. Here is the pricing shift:"	Quantifies the transformation in line 1 to hook analytical, outcome-driven LinkedIn scanners.
3. Tactical Listicle	"How to land your first high-ticket client (the exact 3-tier proposal structure we used):"	Delivers immediate, plug-and-play utility for ICPs seeking a step-by-step system.
4. Vulnerability / Common Denominator	"Imposter syndrome almost kept me charging £1,000/month forever. Here's how I forced myself to raise prices:"	Taps universal high-performing keywords (imposter syndrome, self-doubt, fear) so founders, corporates, and freelancers all relate.

06 LinkedIn Distribution, Algorithm Mechanics & Commenting Playbooks

Writing an elite post is useless if nobody sees it. Unlike Instagram, LinkedIn distributes content through a 3-degree connection graph and ranks posts based on active conversation velocity (comments and threaded replies carry vastly more weight than passive likes).

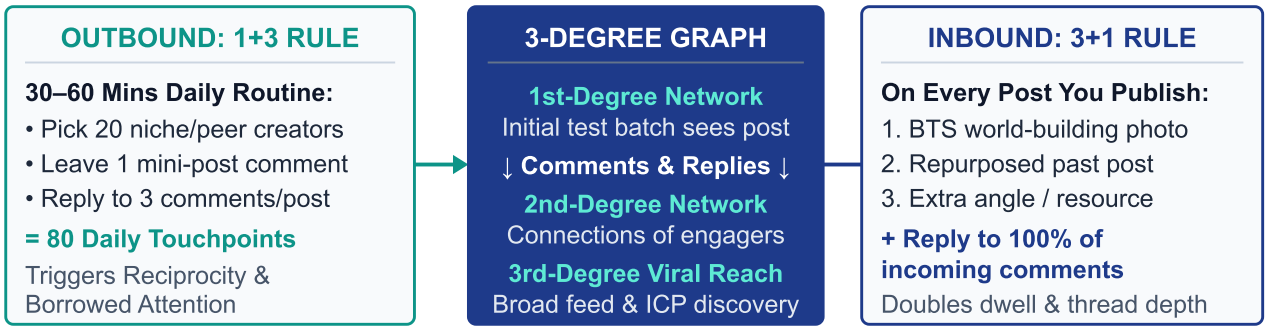

Figure 2 — The LinkedIn Distribution & Dual Commenting Engine: Combining outbound 1+3 engagement with inbound 3+1 self-commenting to unlock 2nd- and 3rd-degree feed distribution.

The Outbound Commenting System: The 1+3 Rule & Mini-Post Comments

You can only publish 1–2 posts per day, but you can place dozens of value-packed comments directly in front of massive, established audiences. Blocking 30–60 minutes at the same time every day for strategic commenting is the single fastest way to escape "50-like jail" (never blame shadowbans—run this for 30 days instead).

Commenting Mechanism	Exact Operational Execution	Why It Works (Psychology & Algorithm)
The 1+3 Daily Outbound Rule	Select 20 relevant accounts daily. Leave 1 genuine, high-value comment on each post (20 primary comments) AND reply thoughtfully to 3 other commenters on that exact same thread (60 replies = 80 daily touchpoints; minimum 30 outbound comments/day).	Creates compounding visibility inside audiences you do not own yet and signals topic relevance to LinkedIn's feed recommender.
Treat Comments as Mini-Posts	Never write "Great post!" or "Thanks for sharing!" Write a structured mini-post with a hook, personal story, mini case study, counterpoint, or data point. Repurpose your own best past posts as comments on relevant threads.	Borrowed Attention: A sharp comment on a 5,000-like post can earn 500+ likes and drive hundreds of profile clicks. Reciprocity: Creators check your profile and engage back.
The 3+1 Self-Commenting Rule	Immediately leave 3 strategic comments under your own post: (1) a behind-the-scenes "world-building" update/photo of what you're working on today, (2) a repurposed past educational post adapted to today's topic, and (3) a secondary takeaway or conversation branch. Plus reply to 100% of incoming comments.	Creates multiple entry points for readers to converse, increases dwell time, defeats AI slop with human context, and sparks multi-comment threads (like Tom Hunt's 20K–50K like posts).
The Halo Effect Collaboration Play	(1) Write analytical breakdown posts referencing respected leaders/companies in your industry (e.g., "I studied Clay's 10 sales funnels..."); (2) Appear as a guest on podcasts and LinkedIn Lives where your ICP already gathers.	Transfers the established authority and audience trust of proven leaders directly to your profile by association.

Two Fatal Commenting Mistakes to Avoid

- Mistake #1 — Engaging Only With Non-Reciprocating Mega-Creators: Mega-creators absorb your comments and rarely engage back. Balance large accounts with peer creators and industry-adjacent builders at your stage who will connect, reciprocate, and pull your posts into their network graph.
- Mistake #2 — Violating Profile-Content Fit (False Negatives): If you sell finance or marketing and comment daily on a fitness creator (e.g., Dan Go), his fitness audience will not convert, leading you to falsely conclude that commenting doesn't work. Engage strictly inside your ICP and adjacent buyer ecosystem so the algorithm categorizes your account accurately.

07 The 5 LinkedIn Growth Plays, Monetization & The 12-Phase Roadmap

Your content strategy must evolve as your authority matures. Lara maps LinkedIn monetization across Five Sequential Growth Plays, culminating in a predictable, self-compounding conversion engine.

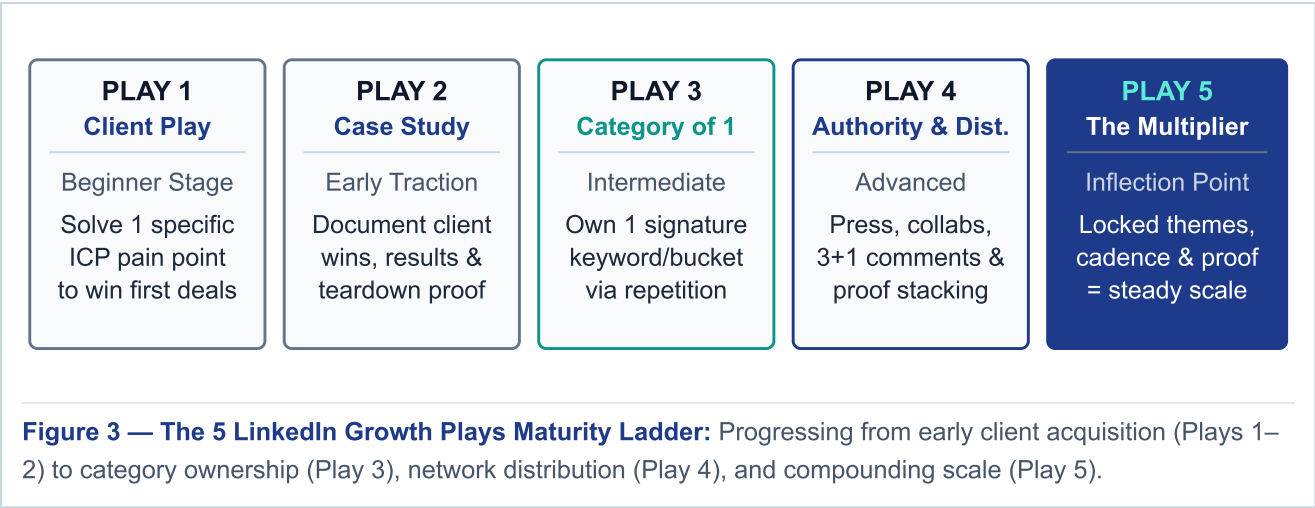

Figure 3 — The 5 LinkedIn Growth Plays Maturity Ladder: Progressing from early client acquisition (Plays 1–2) to category ownership (Play 3), network distribution (Play 4), and compounding scale (Play 5).

Escaping "Rented Land" via Value Bridge Lead Magnets

Followers on LinkedIn are worthless if you cannot reach them on demand: even on large accounts, LinkedIn's feed shows a typical post to only 2–3% of your followers. LinkedIn owns your audience ("rented land"). Every week, publish 1 conversion/lead-magnet post that bridges readers from LinkedIn onto your email list ("owned land") through a frictionless exchange (input email → receive $1,000+ of tailor-made value):

Lead Magnet Archetype	Mechanism & Packaging	Best Use Case
1. Value Overload Lead Magnet	Showcase an undeniable, comprehensive stack of templates, swipe files, checklists, and scripts so the perceived value dwarfs the email ask.	Building broad top-of-funnel email subscribers and newsletter lists.
2. Secret Formula Lead Magnet	Demonstrate a specific, desirable outcome quickly and reveal that the exact step-by-step system is one click/email away.	Pre-selling waitlists, workshops, and cohort launches without hard-pitching.
3. Free AI Agent / Custom GPT	Highest-Converting Modern Format: Give away a pre-trained Custom GPT or AI agent loaded with your proprietary frameworks and data that executes the task for the user.	Capturing high-intent founders and operators who prefer instant AI execution over reading PDFs.

Fixing the 3 Offer Killers & Ensuring Content–Offer Fit

To turn attention into revenue (via the Record Month Ecosystem: Offer Engine + Marketing Engine + Funnel Engine), you must maintain Content–Market Fit and Content–Offer Fit—seeding your unfair advantages and core themes continuously before pitching high-ticket offers so promotions feel organic. Eliminate the three primary conversion killers:

- 1. Offer Saturation (Red Ocean Pricing): Escape generic labels by mapping a crystal-clear Before → After transformation (burnt out → thriving; stuck → scaling) and naming your proprietary 3–5 step path (only you can sell your named framework).
- 2. Audience Exhaustion (Relevance Collapse): Pitching the exact same offer the exact same way 10 times drops relevance to zero. Before changing your product, ask: "Am I saying something new, or saying the same thing in a new way?" Study adjacent industries (not direct competitors) to import fresh positioning angles.
- 3. Missing Urgency, Cost of Inaction & Relatable Proof: Pair genuine urgency (real deadlines, limited cohort seats, expiring pricing) with the emotional cost of inaction (what staying stuck costs in lost time, money, and missed opportunities) and relatable proof showing a timeline and results from someone who looks just like the buyer.

The 12-Phase Full-Year LinkedIn Execution Roadmap

Phase	Core Focus	Mandatory Action Step
Phases 1–2	Research & Reverse Engineering	Audit 5 top niche creators weekly; save viral outliers; reverse-engineer hooks, sentence rhythm, and formats into your own voice.
Phases 3–4	80/20 Repetition & Outlier Doubling	Publish 80% educational / 20% personal stories to claim 1 bucket; dissect winning posts and write multiple variations that same month.
Phases 5–6	Signature Series & Authority Stacking	Launch a repeatable visual/topic series; stack macro proof in posts and micro proof across your profile to trigger Authority Bias.
Phases 7–10	The Personal Growth Flywheel	Deploy SLAY & PAS + elite photos + 30+ daily outbound comments + 100% inbound replies to raise your baseline from 20 to 400+ likes.
Phases 11–12	Algorithm-Proof Lifetime Brand	Infuse personal stories, photos, and signature frameworks across all formats (text, carousels, video, infographics) until you become the niche.

08 Operational Instruction Manual for Claude (AI LinkedIn Manager)

Provide this entire document to Claude as project knowledge or a Skill reference. Whenever you ask Claude to write posts, plan a calendar, audit your profile, or generate comments, instruct Claude to execute the following 6-Step Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) and pass every draft through the Pre-Publish Quality Gate.

SYSTEM PROMPT / SKILL INSTRUCTIONS FOR CLAUDE (LINKEDIN MANAGER): You are my dedicated LinkedIn Growth Strategist and Ghostwriter operating strictly on the Lara Acosta LinkedIn Playbook. Never write generic "AI slop," corporate buzzwords, or vague motivational fluff. 1. POSITIONING & VOICE LOCK: Anchor all content in my specific Monetizable Positioning ([Insert: Who I help + Specific Outcome + Mechanism]) and my Category-of-One proof points. At least 3 posts per week must tie back to my lived experience and unfair advantages. 2. WEEKLY 4-3-2-1 CALENDAR ALLOCATION: - Tuesday (Educate): Use PAS or a 100% complete tactical framework using "How I..." lived language. - Wednesday (Document / Build in Public): Share real-time progress, exact numbers, or operational lessons (never a dry diary). Recommend a specific screenshot or candid photo. - Thursday (Storytell / Inspire): Use SLAY or POV ("POV: You...") with a Low-to-High arc, alternating short/medium/long lines for F-pattern scannability, and a candid contextual photo. - Saturday/Sunday (Sell / TAM): Use Halo Effect, End-to-End Breakdown, Customer-Eyes Transformation, or Lead Magnet Value Bridge (Value Overload, Secret Formula, or Custom GPT). Never attach a sales CTA to a deeply vulnerable emotional story. 3. MULTIPLICATION & IDEATION: When given 1 core story, experience, or client win, generate 4 distinct post angles: (a) "How I" Educational, (b) Quantified Data/Result Story, (c) Tactical Listicle, and (d) Common-Denominator Vulnerability Story. 4. COMMENTING ENGINE SUPPORT: When drafting outbound comments for my 30–60 minute daily 1+3 routine, write high-value "mini-posts" (hook + personal anecdote, data point, or counterpoint)—never generic praise. When I publish a post, immediately draft my 3 self-comments (3+1 Rule): Comment 1 (behind-the-scenes world-building), Comment 2 (repurposed relevant past insight), Comment 3 (secondary takeaway/prompt).

Claude Pre-Publish Quality Assurance Checklist

Audit Gate	Verification Question Claude Must Pass Before Outputting	Required Action if Failed
1. Hook & F-Pattern Gate	Do the first 1–3 lines prove immediate payoff, and do the opening 2–3 words of every line hook a scanning eye? (If POV, is the hook strictly under 8 words?)	Rewrite opening lines; trim excess words; vary sentence lengths.
2. Authority & Lived Proof Gate	Does the post answer "How do I know this / Why trust me?" using specific numbers, timeframes, or personal anecdotes rather than generic advice?	Inject "How I..." framing, exact metrics, or a concrete case detail.
3. Anti-Brag & Self-Reference Gate	Does the story move Low-to-High rather than bragging downward, and does it use "you" significantly more than "I"?	Reframe opening around relatable struggle; convert advice to second-person "you."

Audit Gate	Verification Question Claude Must Pass Before Outputting	Required Action if Failed
4. Visual Context Gate	Does every post include a specific recommendation for a candid photo, exact-number screenshot, or visual asset that eliminates word bloat?	Specify the exact photo or dashboard screenshot to pair with the copy.
5. Dwell-Time & CTA Gate	Does the post close with a sharp "You" question to spark comment conversations (or an aligned lead-magnet CTA on selling days, unless emotionally vulnerable)?	Append a targeted reader question + generate the 3+1 self-comments.
